Graham Gunsser

Located in Bemm River, East Gippsland Graham doesn't get to show his birds as often as he would like, but is a keen fancier, spending about 30 hours a week "in the birdroom" and really enjoying the hobby now that he is in retirement.

Graham has been breeding & showing championship Budgerigars since a teenager.

The stud is housed in a large breeding room with about 40 breeding cages, an area set up with show benches & cages for sorting, and 3 large interconnecting flights.

The varieties covered include the normal's plus, Spangle, Dominant Pieds, Recessive Pieds and Yellowface. This creates a very colourful aviary.

Graham would welcome visitors to Bemm River, a great fishing spot.
